

BellSouth's petition to end regulation of broadband services should be denied. My local independent ISP has given stellar service at competitive prices. Their investment in equipment necessary to offer their services is dependent upon their ability to forecast costs and a change in regulations would significantly impact their business model. Don't allow this massive corporate entity to undo the good done by current reviews.